WELCOME

to the Gawler & Districts 4WD Club

Previously known as "The Light Four Wheel Drive Club of SA Inc." this active 4WD club was founded in 2002. Members voted at the March 2008 meeting to change the club's name and meet at Gawler to give the club a more recognizable name and a more central meeting place.

It has become a very social club and has run many a successful day, week-end, long week-end and extended trips. We are a member of the Four Wheel Drive South Australia which incorporates the Driver Training Unit. Most meetings include a Guest Speaker and a monthly club newsletter.

If you are a visitor to tonight's meeting, we welcome you and your family to our club. Please ask as many questions as you want. You can join us on up to 3 club outings before becoming a member. Trip Leaders run each outing and will be glad to help you with tips on four wheel driving and how to get the best from your vehicle. If you would like to join us on any trips and enjoy what 4WD can really bring, please fill out your details on our Trip Sheet/s.

The Club meets every second Friday in the month at 7.30 pm at the Gawler Elderly Centre Hall in Fourteenth Street, Gawler.

The meeting dates are shown on page 3 of this newsletter.

Annual membership fees are $60 per vehicle/family, plus $10 joining fee.

Notes from Your Committee

President's report:

Now that Spring is well on the way with all the trees, crops and wild flowers out in bloom, it is certainly a lovely time of the year for travelling especially with day light saving.

There are a few things that need to be brought to our attention this month. November is our last meeting before the AGM. I would ask you all to give a lot of thought as to who you would like in the various positions on the Committee in 2013. I will be standing down as President this year.

We need to elect a President and Secretary for 2 years and then all the other positions on the committee. There are nomination forms with this newsletter.

The 10th Anniversary trip to Burra Creek Gorge should have been a great weekend. It was unfortunate a virus was ruling my life at that stage which refrained us from going. The long weekend to the Argadells would also have been a great one, but things stepped in our tracks again, the passing of Lyn's Mother, her funeral and a relly bash on the Sunday. So all who attended I hope you had a fantastic time.

Thankyou George for showing us your trip through the Simpson Desert and it's surrounds after our last meeting. It was nice to see some of the places that we had seen by air a few years prior.

Please remember we need Guest speakers for 2013. This could be a trip that you have done, just put your name forward. Enough from me.

Thanks everybody for the ongoing support by keeping our Club alive and active.

[Max]

Editor's report:

I know, like me, you have probably been looking forward to our speaker from the RSB for the October meeting (together with Eli the golden retriever,) but unfortunately Wendy has had to decline due to ill health. We have provisionally re-booked her (and Eli) to be our speaker for March next year.

Please also note the two important comments which are shown just before the Coming Events and have been endorsed by our committee.

It's also that time of the year when you might like to put your hand up for a position on the Committee. Please give this some serious thought - we can't expect the same people to put their hands up year after year and it's only fair that the outgoing Committee members don't feel obliged to keep going due to a lack of response from other members.

Nomination forms are attached to the back of the Newsletter.

Most of the Coming Events trips have been completed and the list has now shrunk to three which includes the Christmas Show. Please put your thinking caps on and try to come up with some events for 2013. If you would like to lead a trip, that would be great, however, if you don't necessarily wish to lead a trip but have a suggestion for one, then please let us hear what it is as someone else may be prepared to lead the trip instead.

Christmas is just around the corner again - a mere 11 weeks or so away - so we are looking for donations for our Christmas Hampers. Please refer to page 15 of the Newsletter for some suggestions.

And that's about it from me.

DO THE RIGHT THING WITH OUR TRIP LEADERS

Please note: If you have put your name down on a trip sheet and are not able to go, as a matter of courtesy to the trip leader, please remove your name or let the trip leader know your change of plans as soon as possible by phone or email.

Whilst the Club welcomes and encourages visitors to join us on our trips, please be aware that, should you wish to go on an organised trip, the onus is on you to let the trip leader sight a copy of your vehicle insurance cover before you can join the trip.

This is to comply with the Club's legal liability insurance requirements. If these details are not forthcoming, you will not be covered by the Club's legal liability insurance and your name will be removed from the trip sheet. There will be no exceptions to this rule – so please remember: no insurance details, no trip!

We really appreciate the efforts made by our Trip Leaders so please help them and make it as enjoyable as possible by following these simple rules.

Is your Caravan or Camper-Trailer Compliant?

As we are approaching the holiday season, the following article as re-printed from "Westprint Friday Five" dated 5 October 2012 may be of interest to those people proposing to tow caravans or camper trailers.

The word "compliant", according to dictionaries, means acquiescent, biddable, submissive, amenable, or accommodating. When applied to road vehicles - including caravans and camper-trailers - it means "meeting all of the legal requirements to enable them to be (lawfully) registered for use on Australian roads".

Is your caravan or camper-trailer fully "compliant"?

When you buy a motor vehicle - or a trailer over 4.5 tonne ATM Rating - it will have a Compliance Plate, issued by the federal Vehicle Safety Standards (formerly referred to as DOTARS), fitted to it. This means that complete proof-of-compliance with all applicable ADRs (Australian Design Rules) has been submitted to VSS for their engineering inspection and subsequent approval. VSS will then have probably conducted a SUTI (single uniform type inspection) on one of the subject vehicles, to confirm that the evidence does, in fact, accurately match the vehicle description and specifications.

For caravans and trailers under 4.5 tonne ATM Rating, this is not the case. "Self-certification" is permitted, whereby the manufacturer - or importer - provides a declaration on the VIN/Trailer/Compliance Plate, that the vehicle complies with the Motor Vehicle Standards Act 1989. Since the MVSA 1989 became legislated, all caravans and camper-trailers have been required to have a valid Trailer Plate securely affixed to it.

The Plate is legally required to show the following information:

- Manufacturer's or Importer's Name
- Trailer Model
- Vehicle Identification Number (17-digit)
- Date of Manufacture
- Aggregate Trailer Mass Rating
- The Certification Statement: "This trailer was manufactured to comply with the Motor Vehicle Standards Act 1989.

Often the legally-required Tyre Placard is also included and possibly other information.

Three of the items required on the Tyre Placard are:

- The manufacturer's recommended tyre size (Without mentioning brand names)
- Tyre load rating
- Speed rating.

All information on the Plate, or otherwise supplied to the public, must be true and correct for that specific vehicle. VSB-1 (Vehicle Standards Bulletin No: 1) is the legal instrument that prescribes the legal requirements for caravans and trailers (under 4.5 tonne ATM Rating).

This can be down-loaded from the web-site:

http://www.infrastructure.gov.au/roads/vehicle_regulation/bulletin/index.aspx

The biggest issue that leads to complaints and litigation is "Ratings and Masses". This especially relates to the "load-carrying capacity" (maximum legal pay-load) of the vehicle. While "Tare Mass" is not legally required to be stated on the Plate, one would certainly argue that providing this figure (in writing) is a critical duty-of-care responsibility of the "merchant".

Load-carrying capacity = ATM Rating - Tare Mass

Many complaints relate to the actual Tare Mass being significantly more than the stated Tare Mass. The Tare Mass is the measured (not estimated) mass of the vehicle as it leaves the factory, with empty water tanks and empty gas cylinders, but with all equipment and accessories that were stated on the Purchase Contract. Problems have arisen because dealers or owners have added equipment and accessories later, without requiring the Plate to be up-dated with the true Tare Mass. It is prudent for buyers to weigh a newly-purchased caravan or camper-trailer - both new and second-hand - to confirm the actual Tare Mass, at a certified weigh-bridge. The (empty) Ball-loading should also be accurately measured.

Also surprisingly, the GTM Rating is not legally required to be stated on the Plate, even though some ADR (and unique State) requirements depend on the GTM Rating... especially braking requirements above and below 2,000 kg GTM Rating. The ratings of the wheels, tyres, axle(s) and suspension must all be equal to, or greater than, the GTM Rating. It is important to note that the GTM Rating has no bearing whatsoever on the ball-loading.

Other important compliance items are the:

- Ratings and method of attachment of the coupling and the safety chains
- Braking system
- Lamps and reflectors
- Electrical wiring between the vehicle and the tow-vehicle
- Vehicle dimensions... length, width, height, rear-overhang.

The most critical and potentially lethal, if not correct - internal safety items are the electrical and gas appliances and installations. These must be in strict accordance with the appropriate ASs (Australian Standards). Some States/Territories may have different interpretations and requirements, and the best way to ensure full compliance is to obtain certificates from licensed electricians and gas-fitters. There have been a number of cases where appliances and installations - both electrical and gas - have not been approved to Australian requirements.

Lamps and reflectors have a number of legal requirements. They have to be designed for the particular function, for example a "generic" red lamp cannot be used for the rear position, end-outline, and stop lamps. Different lamps and reflectors have different fields-of-view (horizontally and vertically) and different maximum and minimum light intensities. There have been numerous cases of non-compliant lamps being used on caravans and camper-trailers offered for sale in Australia. To demonstrate approval for specific functions, lamps and reflectors must have either an "E-mark" or a CRN.

"E-marks" (E for Europe) are used on many automotive components that are used internationally. The mark consists of a capital "E", with a small sub-script number, inside a circle, along with the approval number embossed in the plastic. Lamps and reflectors that are sold just in Australia, will probably not have an "E-mark", but are required to have a CRN (component registration number) that is issued by VSS, after proof-of-compliance is provided to them. Such lamps and reflectors must have unique identification markings, so that they can be cross-referenced to the specific CRN.

Lamps and reflectors must be oriented correctly, especially front and rear reflectors (in a side view). The prescribed number of lamps and reflectors must be fitted, and they must be in the specified positions. While lamps and reflectors may not be as critical as brakes, couplings and tyres, they are still an important road-safety item.
