WELCOME

to the Gawler & Districts 4WD Club

Previously known as "The Light Four Wheel Drive Club of SA Inc." this active 4WD club was founded in 2002. Members voted at the March 2008 meeting to change the club's name and meet at Gawler to give the club a more recognizable name and a more central meeting place.

It has become a very social club and has run many a successful day, week-end, long week-end and extended trips. We are a member of the Four Wheel Drive South Australia which incorporates the Driver Training Unit. Most meetings include a Guest Speaker and a monthly club newsletter.

If you are a visitor to tonight's meeting, we welcome you and your family to our club. Please ask as many questions as you want. You can join us on up to 3 club outings before becoming a member. Trip Leaders run each outing and will be glad to help you with tips on four wheel driving and how to get the best from your vehicle. If you would like to join us on any trips and enjoy what 4WD can really bring, please fill out your details on our Trip Sheets.

The Club meets every second Friday in the month at 7.30 pm at the Gawler Elderly Centre Hall in Fourteenth Street, Gawler.

The meeting dates are shown on page 3 of this newsletter.

Annual membership fees are $50 per vehicle/family, plus $10 joining fee.

NOTES FROM YOUR COMMITTEE

Presidents Report:

Welcome to a new year of your 4WD club.

I would also like to welcome a couple of new faces on the Committee; Joann & Bronte. Well done for "putting up your hand" and joining the Committee.

We already have a couple of events planned for the year, but need more. If you have an idea for a trip, or would like to lead a trip, please see John or a member of the Committee, we will give you plenty of help.

Guest Speakers always make our monthly meeting interesting, so if you have ideas or any suitable contacts, please see a member of the Committee.

Fees for this year are $50 + $10 joining/late fee, so please see Norma with your renewal form (available on our website) , filled out and signed front and back, along with your insurance papers. These are due by the March meeting at the latest.

[Quenton]

Editor's Report:

Happy New Year to all our members. We trust it will be a great year socially for the Club as well as challenging for anyone wishing to undertake training. If you are interested in this side of things, please speak to Peter Harper our Training Officer. The 2016 DTU Training Calendar is now in the Newsletter.

As Quenton mentioned above we are looking for more trips for the year and after having our "brainstorming" session at the October meeting where we identified a number of trips people are interested in, we should be able to fill up the trips calendar in no time at all! Let the committee know which suggested trip you would like to undertake in 2016.

I would like to take this opportunity of thanking Chris for the excellent job he has done as Publisher and in setting up the website for the Club. It has been a breeze working with him over the past few years and he made life very easy for me in spite of the number of boo boos I have made during that time. So thank you, Chris, for all your support.

If you have any articles, photos, recipes, jokes or anything you may consider of interest to the Club and would like to see included in the Newsletter, please don't hesitate in contacting me, Quenton or Jane. Thank you.

Once again the annual photo competition attracted some wonderful submissions. The Gawler Fishing and Outdoor prize was won by John Jansen with his photo of an old cart taken on Easter Trip to Mt Ive. The People's Choice was a closely fought competition requiring two rounds of voting before Deb's very creative photo of a fence a Yankalilla was declared the winner. Thanks to John J for organising the competition.

FRIDAY FUNNIES

(Thanks to Quenton)

A father put his three-year-old daughter to bed, told her a story, and listened to her prayers ,which ended by saying: "God bless Mommy, God bless Daddy, God bless Grandma, and goodbye Grandpa."

The father asked, "Why did you say goodbye Grandpa?"

The little girl said, "I don't know daddy, it just seemed like the thing to do."

The next day grandpa died. The father thought it was a strange coincidence.

A few months later, the father put the girl to bed and listened to her prayers which went like this: "God bless Mommy, God Bless Daddy, and goodbye Grandma." The next day the grandmother died.

"Holy Moley," thought the father, "this kid is in contact with the other side."

Several weeks later when the girl was going to bed, the dad heard her say: "God bless Mommy, and goodbye Daddy." He practically went into shock.

He couldn't sleep all night and got up at the crack of dawn to go to his office. He was nervous as a cat all day and had lunch while watching the clock. He figured if he could get by until midnight he would be okay. He felt safe in the office, so instead of going home at the end of the day he stayed there, drinking coffee, looking at his watch, and jumping at every sound.

Finally as midnight arrived, he breathed a sigh of relief and went home. When he got home his wife said, "I've never seen you work so late, what's the matter?"

He said, "I don't want to talk about it, I've just spent the worst day of my life."

She said, "You think you had a bad day? You'll never believe what happened to me. This morning the mailman dropped dead on our porch!"

TRIVIA

10 AUSSIE INVENTIONS

You may be surprised to learn that the following have all been invented in Australia:

1. The mechanical ice-maker

Born in Scotland, James Harrison moved to Australia at the age of 21. While James worked for a number of Australian publications as a journalist and editor, he is best known for his innovations in the field of refrigeration. In 1854, James designed and built the first mechanical ice-making machine in Geelong, Victoria, which was soon made commercially available. He was a pioneer in the area of commercial meat exports at a time when Australia's cattle export industry was still very young, proving that you could freeze meat for a long time and have it remain edible. So the next time you rummage around your freezer for a handful of ice cubes, imagine a time before mechanised ice production - when ice was chipped out of a frozen lake, stored in a chilled location (if one was available), and was considered to be the ultimate in luxury.

2. Wi-Fi hotspots

While the advent of wireless internet capabilities involved a number of research teams across the world, we have Aussie inventors to thank for allowing us to access the internet in coffee shops, airports, train stations, and even on buses. Highly sought-after wireless hotspots were once ineffective means of accessing the internet as the connection in indoor spaces created too much echo from radio waves, which disrupted the connection. Using radioastronomy technology, CSIRO researchers developed a new fast chip in the early 1990s which solved this problem, resulting in quicker, more reliable wireless internet access, particularly indoors.

3. The notepad

Today, if we need to jot something down, most of us turn straight to our smartphone or other electronic device. As the traditional pen and pad are all but obsolete, have you ever thought about the inventor of the first paper notebook? In 1902, J.A. Birchall of Birchalls, a Launceston, Tasmania-based stationery shop, decided that the cumbersome method of selling writing paper in folded stacks of 'quires' (four sheets of paper or parchment folded to form eight leaves) was inefficient. As a solution, he glued together a stack of halved sheets of paper, supported by a sheet of cardboard, creating what he called the 'Silver City Writing Tablet' - the first notepad.

4. The rotary clothes hoist

The rotary clothesline has become so common that it's now unusual to see an Aussie backyard without one. Take a moment to consider the clumsy web of rope that would have to be strung across your lawn or garden if it weren't for this compact alternative. Gilbert Toyne of Adelaide developed several versions of his 'clothesline and hoist' mechanism, patented in 1911, 1923 and 1925. Similar models, such as the popular 'Hills Hoist', were developed later.

5. Stainless steel braces

Anyone who's ever had a mouth full of orthodontic metal knows that getting your braces tightened is not a pleasant affair - and the addition of skull-encompassing headgear and a screw-based tightening mechanism sounds particularly painful. Percy Raymond Begg of Adelaide thought so too. With mercy in his heart, Percy collaborated with metallurgist Arthur Wilcock to develop a gentler, stainless steel system in 1956 involving gradual adjustments rather than earlier brute force methods used to straighten teeth.

6. The plastic wine cask

As the proud stewards of world-renowned vineyards and exceptional wines, Aussies know the value of a durable wine cask. While glass bottles were the standard container used to store and transport wine, Angoves Wines of Renmark, South Australia sought both a method to ship their wines in bulk as well as a way to keep wine fresh after opening. Inspired by the European 'bladder' design, W J Marshall developed a polyethylene sack in 1966 which preserves the wine's freshness, collapsing as wine is poured. This prevents air from spoiling the wine, as is common when an open bottle is exposed to air for several days. A plastic 'tap' was added to this design later.

7. Long-wear contact lens

While contact lenses became popular as a discreet alternative to glasses, they were not always as convenient to use as they are today. CSIRO and the University of New South Wales joined an international research team in 1991 with the goal of developing comfortable long-wear contact lenses. As well as being durable, the lenses had to be thin, allowing optimal oxygen transfer to promote cornea health. The lenses they developed in 1999 were made from a silicone hydrogel which can safely be worn for 30 days and nights without being removed.

8. The electric drill

While the concept of a drill has been in use for thousands of years, the advent of the electric motor in the 19th century led to the development of the electric drill. Designed by Arthur James Arnot and William Blanch Brain in Melbourne in 1889, the size of the first electric drill was, to say the least, massive. It was designed to cut through coal and rock for mining applications. While this initial model was far from portable, the same technology was refined to create the modern-day hand drill.

9. The baby safety capsule

While the use of car safety restraints for small children is common today, this was not the case before the enactment of Australian seatbelt legislation, which took effect across Australia in the 1960s and 70s. In response to the need for child safety restraints, Bob Botell and Bob Heath developed the 'Safe-n-Sound' Baby Safety Capsule in 1984. They crafted their design so that it would lock into a standard-sized car seat, allowing babies and small children to be strapped-in and secure.

10. Salt water pool chlorination system

While we all enjoy a refreshing dip in a swimming pool, the chemicals used to clean and maintain pools, particularly chlorine, can have effects on human health ranging from eye and skin irritation to respiratory difficulty. In the 1970s, Len David researched alternative methods of pool maintenance to reduce the amount of chemicals used in pool cleaning. His work led to the development of the salt water chlorination system which is built directly into the pool. This mechanism produces chlorine by facilitating a chemical reaction between salt and an electric current, rather than being added in large amounts by hand.
